● GUKE SH GETS EVEN WITH CARLSEN IN NORWAY

Reigning world champion D Gukesh (left) got his revenge on Magnus Carlsen as he pounced on a blunder by the world No. 1 to defeat him for the first time in a classical game, in Round 6 of Norway Chess on Sunday. The win propelled Gukesh, 19, to third position with 8.5 points and he is just one point shy of joint leaders Carlsen and Fabiano Caruana of the US

3 more Indian B-schools enter FT executive course rankings

● ISB becomes
#1 executive MBA
institute in Asia

MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, June 2

IN A STRONG showing for Indian management education, three business schools – MDI-Gurgaon, IIM-Calcutta and IIM-Kozhikode – have entered the Financial Times (FT) Executive Education Custom Ranking this year. The rankings for bespoke courses for 2025 also witnessed Indian School of Business (ISB) Hyderabad taking the top spot in Asia, piped China-based Ceibs.

Overall, Indian institutes have performed better than last year. For instance, ISB has been ranked at 23 in 2025, up three notches from the 2024 slot. Similarly, IIM Bangalore is ranked at 46, moving two places up.

As against four business schools from India making it to the list last year, the 2025

MAKING GLOBAL PRESENCE

FT executive education custom rankings 2025

1	IMD – International Institute for Management Development, Switzerland/Singapore
2	London Business School, UK/UAE
3	SDA Bocconi School of Management, Italy
23	Indian School of Business, India
46	Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore
57	EMLyon Business School, France/China/India
61	Management Development Institute, Gurgaon
72	Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad (India/UAE)
78	Indian Institute of Management, Calcutta
83	Indian Institute of Management, Indore
87	Indian Institute of Management, Kozhikode

rankings featured seven from the country. France-based EMLyon Business School (57), which has a campus in Mumbai, is also on the list.

The FT rankings, which features a total of 95 institutes this year, assess institutes on four broad parameters, and 14 sub-parameters such as programme design, faculty, value for money, new skills & learning, future use, etc.

ISB has secured high global rankings across several key parameters, including two in 'future use', indicating client satisfaction; 12 in 'value for money'; 22 in 'programme design'; and 23 in 'international clients'.

Sunil Sood, executive director of executive education at ISB, said that the latest rankings reinforce the institute's commitment to developing and delivering programmes that address the evolving and urgent needs of today's industry.

"This recognition encourages us to continue designing world-class programmes that empower our participants to become catalysts of meaningful change," he said.

Globally, the Switzerland-based IMD was ranked as the top institute for executive education this year. It jumped two positions to secure the top rank, dethroning the France-based Insead, which topped last year.

London Business School too registered a sharp jump, from seven in 2024 to two in 2025. France has the most number of MBA institutes (16) on the list this year followed by the UK.

Executive MBA programmes suit the diverse needs of working professionals who are already pursuing a full-time career but want to combine it with management education.
